The Rotary Club of Pensacola District 6940 Club 4248

WEEK IN REVIEW 12/8/2020

President Sally Fox opened the meeting with the traditional 4 Way Test. Prayer and Pledge were led by Adam Principe.

Charles Beall who is the current president of the PSO Board, introduced our speaker, Maestro Peter Rubardt. He also mentioned Bret Barrow attending and Courtney Dell who is a member of our Rotary. Maestro Rubardt began his talk with a video of Christmas carols performed by Tina Buran, piano, and Stephanie Riegle, Flute. Maestro Rubardt stated that the pandemic shut down hit at an unfortunate time in the Symphony calendar as the Verdi Requiem had been in preparation for 5 years and the March, April, May and July performances had to be canceled. Peter and Bret provided a slide show to explain the Symphony's new objectives and thinking on the way forward. The objectives are safety for the audience and the orchestra players, vigilance and stewardship to preserve the vitality of the organization, and continuing to serve responsibly by innovating and finding new ways to add value to what the symphony provides to the community. They are working with the Saenger theater on how to bring the audience in safely. This may mean changes in entrance and egress, concessions, and intermission.

The musicians' safety will require masks and ventilation. The winds and the strings have different issues to overcome. (Factoid: the flute is the most dangerous instrument in this pandemic!). Travel may affect who can play. Rehearsal times will have to be adjusted. Some guest artists who had planned to be here are now having to change their plans for their own safety reasons.

"Vigilant stewardship" means being present in the community and preserving the PSO team of staff, musicians, patrons and volunteers. The PSO is preparing now for the recovery ahead.

Meanwhile, the PSO is continuing to serve the community. The Fifth Grade concerts have been a huge part of community outreach, and this year the schools requested virtual concerts that they could watch from home or from school. The symphony was able to provide the schools with videos that are introductions to the instruments as well. Mozart Madness was moved from last spring to early October with the PSO playing in the Saenger with no audience but the video camera. The PSO website now has quite a library and can stream performances on demand. They were able this fall to provide PSO in the Park – free outdoor mini concerts.

The orchestra plans to continue to serve responsibly and is moving the Pops series to the fall of 2021. The Masterworks series will have 6 concerts in the spring of 2021 beginning February 20. All concerts will be recorded on video. The plan is for no intermissions and no concessions. In order to keep the audience "distanced", there will be

2 rehearsals and 2 performances of each concert. There will be fewer musicians performing.

The PSO has created a "Stability Fund" with the goal of raising $200,000. They have raised $110,000 so far. Usually, 40% of the symphony's income is from ticket sales but this has obviously changed. 64% of patrons donated their tickets for the spring concerts back to the PSO. They were also able to get a PPP loan which has been forgiven. They also have DCA funding from the state. Business partners and sponsors continue to be very supportive.

Looking ahead, the PSO as an organization feels that they will need to find a new way to plan or perhaps just plan less with so many unknowns. They are innovating with more video and increasing their skill level at this. Education, access, and engagement are more important than ever. The importance of live music is even more apparent now. The website Pensacolasympphony.com provides up to date information on concerts and calendars and links to the videos.

Chris Kelly announced that next week's program will be provided by the Pensacola Opera.

President Sally mentioned that our Rotary will not be able to return to meeting at New World Landing as the banquet rooms may not be restored for another year. Hurricane Sally was devastating to New World. We are looking for a place to relocate temporarily.

Martha Saunders provided Sunshine with some seasonally appropriate jokes and birthday announcements.

Elections were held for new Board members. President Elect Ed Wonders reviewed the names of new Board members to be voted on. (Please see the Helicopter for names). Since Ray Jones is leaving, Laurie Niesmith will be the Treasurer. Bruce Partington is the President Elect (Rotary plans ahead). Chris Bridwell created an onscreen voting process or poll so that everyone could vote and 100% of those attending did so.

Adam Principe is looking for committee members for Prayer and Pledge and for Sunshine. Please let Adam or Chris Bridwell know if you would like to volunteer.

President Sally announced that Governor De Santis has approved the Rotary license plate and the money from sales will come to your own Rotary Club.

The meeting was adjourned to be followed by a Board meeting.

Respectfully submitted,

Lynne Tobin
