WEEK IN REVIEW 09/26/2017

What a great day to attend our weekly Rotary Meeting. We had fantastic weather with lots of sunshine. We were warmly greeted at the door by Alan Moore. Ticket sales were handled by Laurie Murphy. The $63.00 raffle was won by Marty Longworth.

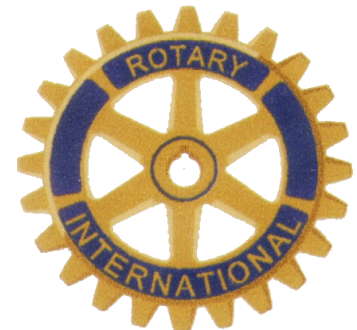

The meeting was called to order by President Paul, who led us in the 4 Way Test. He also reminded us to return our pledge forms. Thirty forms have already been received. For President Paul's moments in history, he told us that on 9/26/27, Mayor Bayliss activated the first traffic signal in Pensacola.

We were led in prayer and pledge by Bryon Stokes. Allen Bookman then took over the podium for sunshine. No military guests were in attendance. However, we did have several guest and visiting Rotarians. Birthdays were announced and John Appleyard led us in singing Happy Birthday.

President Paul then turned the podium over to Mark Harmon to introduce our guest speakers. John Susko (who is a member of the Pace Rotary) and John Hodges, were our guest speakers. They have started a new firm called Collaborative Family Law. They work together with families that are going through divorces, and try to avoid the usual pitfalls that are involved when going through a divorce. John Susko is the attorney, who meets with the family to try and negotiate a fair settlement with both parties involved. They work with the family members to iron out differences without the usual animosity. John Hodges is a psychologist, who counsels the family members and remains neutral during the entire process. The arrangements are worked out in an amicable manner and should reduce the usual anger and resentment that typically occurs during a divorce. This is a new type of procedure for our area. After all of the terms have been agreed upon, the paperwork is submitted to a judge for his/her approval and the divorce is final. No license is required for Collaborative Family Practice and only requires a two day training period.

President Paul thanked the volunteers for their assistance and adjourned the meeting.
